An Investment in Your Bank's Future!

The IBA Risk Management Forum provides a platform and opportunity for Chief Risk Officers and other risk managers to exchange ideas freely, discuss important issues, and explore potential solutions with peers. You do not want to miss this opportunity!

Chief Risk Officers and other senior risk and compliance managers are the target audience for this forum. CEOs and CFOs of banks that do not have an established risk department would also benefit from the forum.

Possible Forum Topics

- Top current and emerging risks for banks
- Regulatory compliance "hot topics"
- New product/activity risk management
- Business resilience
- Risk committees and policy governance
- Risk culture and three lines of defense
- Risk management department resources and structure
- Enterprise-wide and targeted risk assessments
- Key risk indicators
- Fraud trends and solutions
- Risk and compliance training

Benefits of the Forum

- Broaden your knowledge of industry risk management methodologies
- Find creative solutions to risk management challenges your bank is facing
- Improve the efficiency and effectiveness of your enterprise risk management (ERM) program
- Gain an industry perspective on risk management and compliance "hot topics"
- Form relationships with other Chief Risk Officers and industry risk management experts

Facilitator: Rebecca Towne

President and Founder, Quadrant Risk Advisory LLC

Rebecca Towne is founder and president of Quadrant Risk Advisory LLC, Indianapolis, which provides enterprise risk management services to banks nationwide. Previously, Towne served as national lead for ERM services for financial institutions for RSM LLP. An experienced bank chief risk officer, she has more than 25 years of executive level risk management experience, and was engaged by the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland to assist in developing an ERM assessment framework. Towne earned a master's degree from Duke University.
