How the Forum Works

- The forum will meet three times a year.
- Attendees are encouraged to submit topics of interest one to two weeks in advance of the forum date.
- The forum agenda will be built around member submitted topics, as well as topics submitted by the facilitator and other Retail Forum groups which meet across the country.
- Hot topics and/or current events directly affecting Retail Banking will begin each agenda.
- Supplemental documents will be provided by the facilitator to enhance the discussion or for later reference.
- Each attendee's contact information and relevant details (bank assets size, number of branches, core systems) will be shared with the group to enhance networking.
- There is no beginning date or end date to the forums. New attendees can register and join any session.
- The facilitator and attendees will often walk away with action items to share best practices, policies and procedures, and other helpful tools with the group after the forum.
- An email group will be set up by the facilitator to foster the exchange of information between forums.
